"Let me out of here!" [Other yelling]

"You know you're gonna like it around here."

"Monday at 11:01 AM, it's the type of film where the littlest things mean so much more."

"Most people who have seen it just ignore it. Never appreciate how ornate it really is."

"And I read it and I was really intrigued because it was like a combination of a few different stories that we're all familiar with."

"So, tell me something about yourself."

"A little bit of Twilight Zone with Shining mixed together."

"And also a little bit of supernatural stuff going on. And it blends those together in a really nice way. It's quite a little rollercoaster of a journey to go on."

"I need a drink."

"Sir, after last night, do you really think getting a drink is in your best interest?"

"You're never gonna be able to walk away from this."

"You've got all these weird twists."

"How's Michael?"

"You can't tell what's real, what's not."

"A lovely thriller that'll keep you on the edge of your seat from beginning to end."

"We are checking out."

"I'm afraid that will not be happening."

"Monday at 11:01 is a psychological thriller that really challenges the viewer on a lot of levels."

"Maybe it's a blessing in disguise that we're stuck here together."

"Life."

“Come here.”

“Love, death.”

[Chanting]

“Heaven, hell. And our journey in between that.”

“Oh thank God!”

“What’s wrong?”

“I had a terrible dream.”

“The title shows a lot. If you only knew. Very unexpected turn of events. Constantly on a heroes journey.”

“Here we go again.”

“Open the door now!”

“See it if you dare.”
